Councilmen Seek Vote In November On Daylight Saving Time Proposal

Members To Circulate Petitions

Clamor For Change Grows In Mansfield

Mansfielders may get a chance to vote on the "fast time" issue next November.

After the time issue bobbed up in a city council meeting last night, three councilmen said they would circulate petitions to get the proposal in the fall election ballot.

Despite renewed clamor to place the city on daylight saving time, council last night took no action on the proposal.

Harry Hollingsworth, chairman of council's special "fast time" committee, told the members that in response to renewed agitation for the establishment of daylight time in Mansfield, his committee would make a detailed study of the problem and report back to council.

Hollingsworth said after the meeting that, regardless of whether council acts on the time issue, he and his committee members, Thomas Wright and Michael Mihalick, were going to circulate initiative referendums to get the issue put on the ballot in November.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said that he had received from the secretary of state copies of the legal forms needed for an initiative referendum and Hollingsworth said they will be circulated in the near future. The petitions must contain the names of 10 per cent of the registered voters of the city to get the issue on the ballot.

PRESSURE GROWS

The renewed clamour for "fast time" has grown out of the fact that most of the principal cities north and east of Mansfield are now operating on daylight time.

Over the entire state, 34 of the 83 principal cities are on daylight time and 30 of the 34 are in the area north and east of Mansfield.

Spokesmen for a number of Mansfield industrial plants have complained that the difference in time between Mansfield and other cities has interfered with their operations.

Tappan, Barnes, and Westinghouse have changed their office hours to conform to other cities, and other plants plan changes unless the city shifts to daylight time, spokesmen said.

Jerusalem Conflict Violent

Arabs Claim Decision Near

(By Associated Press)

Arabs said they expected a decision today or tomorrow over Jewish fighters, estimated at 8,000 in the violent, continuing battle for Jerusalem.

The Jewish army said it had captured Mt. Zion and broken through the nearby Zion gate and raised the months-long siege of 1,700 Jews in the old walled city.

Daniel De Luce of the Associated Press reported from inside the walled city that the British-trained Arab legion of Trans-Jordan and Arab volunteers were fighting inside and outside the walls. He said the Arabs have cleared away nearly all the Jews to the north, east and south and struck deeply into modern Jerusalem to the west.

Truce efforts failed. Arabs said the Jews were short of food and water.

Premier David Ben-Gurion decreed a state of emergency in Israel. Egyptian planes bombed Tel Aviv for the sixth day running. The mayor asked the U. S., Russia and the United Nations to stop Egypt from bombing Tel Aviv.

SYRIA RAIDED

Jewish headquarters said a raiding force struck into Syria two days ago and blew up a military supply camp east of the Benot-Yaacov bridge across the Jordan. The communique said the Arab legion in Jerusalem shelled the Hadassah hospital and Hebrew university heavily during the night.

The Egyptian army claimed the capture of Deir Suneid, seven miles south of Gaza and 28 south of Tel Aviv, and Beersheba, 40 miles southwest of Jerusalem. Both are in areas assigned to the Arabs under the U.N. partition plan of Nov. 29.

The security council of the United Nations appeared likely to approve a British plan for mediation of the fighting in Palestine. A proposal by the U.S., backed by Russia, seemed doomed. It would call for sanctions and armed force, if necessary, to enforce peace.

Stassen Hits Combination

PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—Harold E. Stassen charged on the eve of the Oregon primary today that an "eastern combination of Taft-Dewey forces" had spent $250,000 to beat him in the state.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York promptly denied the charge

Both Dewey and Stassen were scheduled to return to Portland today for last minute speeches before Oregon voters cast ballots tomorrow for the state's 12 delegates to the GOP National convention.

Stassen, speaking in Astoria last night, charged that Dewey and Sen. Robert A. Taft had combined forces in "an all-out attempt to demonstrate that our more liberal policies, our program for the west, our foreign policy do not have the support of people which the earlier primaries and the national opinion polls showed that we have."

Dewey replied in a statement:

"For two and a half weeks I have had the privilege of waging a wholly constructive and clean campaign before the voters of Oregon. It is saddening that Mr. Stassen in the final days should degrade the campaign by such reckless and flagrantly untruthful statements.

Jesse James Still Living, Paper Claims

LAWTON, Okla. —(AP)— Jesse James, officially dead since 1882, still has life—if not in the flesh—at least in newspaper headlines.

The Lawton Construction said yesterday it had "indisputable proof" the famous outlaw of the era following the Civil War is still alive and is in Lawton.

The newspaper said it had affidavits signed by three persons who knew James in his outlaw days and said they believed the man in Lawton is the real Jesse James.

The newspaper story said:

"Officially Jesse James was killed in 1882 by Bob Ford, a member of the gang, although it was not fully accepted.

"Actually, it was Charlie Bigelow who met his death at the hands of Ford.

"It was agreed among the outlaw gang that no one would reveal his identity until all were past the age of 100. Old man Jesse is the only one who lived."

Steelworkers Seek Contract

CANTON —(AP)— The CIO-United Steel Workers have opened contract negotiations covering 13,680 Timken Roller Bearing company employes in five Ohio cities.

After a two-hour parley at Timken's egneral offices here yesterday, the negotiators set next Monday for their second meeting. The present contract between the company and the union expires July 1.

The negotiations involve Timken plants in Canton, Columbus, Wooster, Zanesville and Mount Vernon.

Vivien Kellems Prepares to Sue

NEW YORK—(AP)—Vivien Kellems says she is going to "sue everyone" in her war on the withholding law—including a bank which turned over $1,685 of her money to the government.

The Westport, Conn., manufacturer told a news conference the Internal Revenue Bureau's forced collection of the money was "misappropriation of funds."

1,000 Are Asked:

Should Chest Let New Agencies In?

A thousand questionnaires went out to key groups and individuals in Mansfield today asking if such fund raising drives as those for cancer, polio, tuberculosis and crippled children should be incorporated in the annual Community Chest drive.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce accompanies the questionaires. In it, C of C President H. B. Soulen explains that the Community Chest was organized in 1920 for the purpose of federating various appeals for money and cutting the cost of multiple campaigns.

Now the multiple drives are back again, the letter says, both here and in other cities and Chest organizations are adopting an "open door" policy to include all health and welfare agencies which meet chest standards.

"The Chest cannot and does not want to force any agency to federate. Only the majority of contributors can do that," the letter says.

The questionaire asks for suggestions as to what agencies now conducting separate fund drives might be included in the Community chests. It also asks if the contributor would be willing to make one big gift, to be paid monthly or quarterly, to avoid the multiple campaigns.

The plane crashed and burned on taking off. It was one of three light Jewish planes flown to Rome from the United States en route to the Holy Land fighting

Bevin Flays 'Nerve' War

SCARBOROUGH —(INS)— Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin today rejected proposals that Britain disarm and asked Russia to "stop provocation."

In a declaration of policy at the British Labor party conference, Bevin declared:

"There is no basis for disarmament in confidence until the nations of the world commit themselves to collective security.

"I suggest that as a start the Russians set an example and stop provocation and the war of nerves."

Despite frequent catcalls and boos during his speech, the Labor party overwhelmingly endorsed the policy set forth by the heavy-set ex-trade union leader. It also rejected criticism of Britain's policy in Greece.

Making it clear that the British will not withdraw from Berlin for any reason, Bevin declared:

"Whatever the provocation . . . we intend to stay in Berlin."

Seniors Turn Kids For Day

383 Enjoy Last Day of School

The 383 members of the largest graduating class in Senior high school's history turned the clock back to kindergarten days today.

Boys and girls, in their upper 'teens and within two weeks of receiving diplomas, donned knickerbockers, shorts, flowing ties and short dresses and wore pigtails for the annual "kid's day" of the graduating class.

There was little or no serious school work. The seniors spent the day checking in their books and getting grade cards from their teachers. It was the last day of school for them.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m., they will return for a class day assembly at which scholastic awards will be presented. The outstanding boy and outstanding girl, winners of the University club award, will be announced.

Saturday night the seniors will be guests of Shaw Jewelry company at a dance in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. On May 28, they will hold their annual dinner and dance at the high school, following which they will enjoy a midnight show at the Madison theater and in the wee hours of May 29 will go to the Richland Recreation company for breakfast, climax of the first all-night senior class party in the history of the high school.

Baccalaureate services are scheduled for May 30 and commencement exercises for June 2.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Church of Christ in Killbuck. Rev. J. Hubert Smith, pastor of the Church of Christ, and Rev. William Tim, pastor of Layland Evangelical church, will officiate. Burial will be in Killbuck cemetery.

The newly formed club proposes to "put all kinds of accident prevention data in the hands of Ohio homemakers, with particular emphasis on the hazards to children." Mrs. Dorothy B. Hammans of Columbus is club president.

Students Stage Clean-up

ZANESVILLE — (AP) — High school seniors took over city offices for the day yesterday.

Townsfolk expected the seniors to have fun "playing" mayor, police chief and other city officials. They had fun all right—and the adult officials had red faces because:

Jack Harker as police chief staged a series of gambling raids. "Mayor" Aubrey Sibbring and "City Solicitor" Frank Shurtz jr., went along.

They confiscated a jar with gambling slips in one place, broke up a poker game and found a pull tab board.

Harker didn't file any charges, although he claimed he had full legal authority to do so.

While this was going on, "Fire Chief" Charles Cooper, "City Auditor" Henry Abele and "Safety Director" John Montgomery tried to condemn the high school building as a fire trap.

The real school officials, city superintendent Donald Summers and Principal Ralph Storts, forestalled this with a few quick conferences after city fire inspectors came to look over the building.

NOT TOO WORRIED

Summers indicated he couldn't give the day's doings too much worry.

"The spirit of adventure, you know," he said. "When you turn youngsters loose in a job like that they're likely to do anything. I'll never guarantee what will happen, myself."

"The purpose of the thing," he added, "is of course to identify the students with local government. It's part of their social science courses. It's a laboratory experience."

Asked if there seemed to be any indication that the gambling raids were the result of any adult guidance, Summers replied, "I don't think so—most boys seem to know what is going on around them and where to go to find anything."

The student "officials" were chosen in an election at the school last week after a two-party mock campaign. The junior high and grade schools have similar events annually on invitation of the city officials.

Gas Heating Ban Back

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio Fuel Gas company said today it was abandoning plans to permit additional gas heating of homes this year.

The company, one of Ohio's largest, recently announced it would allow gas heating of half the new homes constructed in its area this year, and permit an equal number of conversions in homes now heated with other fuel.

Two reasons were given for cancellation of this program: (1) delays in receiving steel pipe resulting from the period when the coal mines were idle and (2) possible allocation of additional contracted gas to other areas by the Federal Power commission.

Its early announcement, the company said, was based in estimates that its gas supply by Feb. 1 would result in a gross shortage on a zero day of 68,000,000 cubic feet. Much of this shortage, it said, could be offset by industrial curtailments.

Without acceptance of any additional home heating customers, the gas shortage on a zero day will be around 85,000,000 cubic feet because of the new circumstance, the firm added.

Goose-Pimply Weather Ends

A bright sun and rapidly climbing mercury brought an end today to "goose-pimple" weather.

From a low point of 40 during the night, temperatures climbed to 65 at noon and, said the weatherman, would head into the 70's before the day ended.

Furthermore, he said, tomorrow will be still warmer.

Despite the possibility of some light showers along the Lake Erie area tomorrow, the weatherman said the general weather picture was showing decided improvement from the wet conditions of the last three weeks and a week of unseasonable cool temperatures.

Disorder Follows Shooting

Picket Killed By Workman

(Compiled From Wire Services)

National guardsmen, who moved into the area with fixed bayonets shortly before dawn, patrolled the Rath Packing company plant at Waterloo, Ia., today after CIO packinghouse workers rioted when one of their pickets was shot to death last evening.

Under protection of upwards of 500 guardsmen, a group of 150 non-striking workers isolated in the big independent packing plant when the rioting began were able to go to their homes.

Relative quiet prevailed at the scene where tumult had broken out for two hours last night after UPWA Picket William J. Farrell, 40, Waterloo, was killed by a pistol blast from a non-striking worker's car which pickets had stopped at the plant entrance.

A woman picket was wounded in the shoulder, apparently by the same bullet that killed Farrell.

Martial law was not proclaimed.

The outbreak of violence came as CIO United Packinghouse Workers prepared to vote at Chicago and other midwestern meat centers on whether to end the strike against the nation's big four and independent meat packers.

LEWIS CALLS MEETING

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis called the 200-man wage policy committee of the United Mine Workers into a meeting that may decide whether the nation faces another soft coal strike.

Other late developments in today's labor news:

Railroads—An informed source said that a "basic agreement" may be reached within 24 hours to end the dispute between the nation's railroads and three unions representing 150,000 firemen, engineers and switchmen. A settlement will permit the government to return the trains to private ownership.

Automotive — Negotiations were still deadlocked between the Chrysler corporation and striking CIO United Auto Workers despite a warning by Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan that he will intervene unless a settlement is reached "in a few days."

Meanwhile, the UAW prepared to call out 225,000 General Motors workers on May 28 unless GM agrees to demands for a 30 cent hourly pay boost and other benefits.

Telephones — The Illinois Bell Telephone company announced that it had signed a three-year contract with the Communication Workers of America covering 11,000 workers. It provided for no wage increases but either side can open the contract for pay discussions twice during the period it is in force.

Police Seek Boy, $6,000

CLEVELAND— (AP)—Lakewood police were informed today by a worried mother that her 12-year-old son had run away from home with $6,000. Possibly three other boys are with him, police said.

Mrs. Laverne Beyer of Lakewood said her son, Kenneth, disappeared with the money—his grandmother's life savings—late yesterday, Lt. Robert Corbin reported.

She could offer no reason for his behavior, Corbin said, since there had "been no trouble at home."

Corbin said one of Kenneth's friends, Frank Blumel, 14, also was missing and that several others might be with them.

Cleveland police have broadcast a radio alarm for the youngsters.

Canada Deports Union Organizer

TORONTO — (AP) — George Knott, union organizer, faces deportation proceedings here today. A high Ottawa official said Knott, who was arrested yesterday as a suspected communist, probably will be deported to the United States soon.

The official said the government's move was in line with government policy to rid Canadian labor unions of alien communists.

Neuman Made Acting Manager In County

Grubaugh Resigns Aid For Aged Post

Resignation of William R. Grubaugh, 701 Springmill street, as manager of the Ohio Aid for Aged office in Mansfield was announced today. The resignation is effective May 31, but Grubaugh will be on vacation during the rest of the month.

The resignation was announced by Karl Babb, head of the state Aid for Aid office in Columbus. Babb said Grubaugh gave ill health as his reason for resigning.

Grubaugh, formerly an investigator for Aid for Aid division in Richland county, became manager about two years ago.

Babb said Howard R. Neuman, an investigator in the office here, will be acting manager until Grubaugh's post is filled. Neuman has served as acting manager on previous occasions.

Babb said a provisional appointment probably would be made within the next two weeks. The manager will be appointed under civil service, but Babb said there is no eligible list.

NO ELIGIBLE LIST

The last examination for the post was in December, but since only one person took the test, Babb said no eligible list was prepared.

The position pays between $200 and $225 a month, depending upon the experience of the appointee.

Among the requirements for appointment are:

Four years full time work as an executive or administrator in a position involving public contact and the direction or supervision of subordinate personnel; one year of full-time paid employment in a public or private welfare agency; one year of full time paid employment in a field related to public welfare.

Bingo Faces Court Test

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The state supreme court Wednesday took under advisement a test case on the operation of bingo, keeno and other lotteries when conducted by churches and fraternal organizations.

The case before the court is an appeal from lower court decisions in Summit county in favor of Murray S. Parker, Akron.

Common pleas and Appeals courts upheld Parker on grounds that the indictment did not charge that he was running an alleged keeno game "for his own profit."

J. P. Riddle, Parker's attorney, argued that no penalty was provided by the legislature for operating a lottery when it is not conducted for profit or is run by church, fraternal and similar groups for charitable purposes.

Jackson Morris, assistant Summit county prosecutor, asked for a reversal of the lower courts' judgment. He said the present anti-lottery statute is unconstitutional because it attempts to permit the operation of bingo and other lotteries when run on a charitable basis.

Take Your Choice, Neighbor!

The missus—who writes our Woman's Column in the Clarion under the name of "Nancy Gale"—gets letters about recipes, advice on etiquette, home management, etc.

One letter she got last week was about a recipe she published for Welsh Rarebit—made with tart cheese, Worcestershire, and a cup of sparkling tangy beer. "Turned out great," says her correspondent. "But you didn't mention what beverage to serve with it. Should I serve beer? Cider? Iced tea?"

The missus' answer was simply: "Any beverage your guests prefer. You don't have to serve cider—any more than you have to serve beer ... but it's often courteous to let guests have a choice."

From where I sit, that simple answer applies to more items than Welsh Rarebit. In a world where everyone has different tastes and ideas—we should recognize those differences and never deny the right of choice to anyone!

Accusations 'Demoralize' Atomic Aids

Statement Issued By Association

OAK RIDGE, Tenn.—(AP)—The Association of Oak Ridge Scientists and Engineers held today that technical personnel at the atomic plant here are "seriously demoralized" by recent accusations against the loyalty of five colleagues and the possibility of additional cases against 30 others.

The association issued a statement Wednesday in which it said that the charges were "mostly trivial," chiefly based on "unsubstantiated rumors," and some completely false.

Dr. M. M. Shapiro, chairman of the association, released the statement soon after it was disclosed by an official of the Atomic Energy commission that investigations were being carried on here "in addition to the requirements of the law," at the request of the AEC in Washington.

"Scientists and engineers realized the necessity for loyalty checks," the association statement said. "However, they feel that they should not be required to defend themselves at formal hearings unless the charges are serious and well-founded, and unless they have an opportunity to confront their accusers."

"These present procedures will make it increasingly difficult to enlist the services of scientists on government projects," the statement said.

Most of the charges against the scientists, the association said, "consist principally of insignificant statements that could be made about almost anyone who has the varied contacts normal in college and work."

"Some of the accusations are completely false. None are supported by sworn statements, and there is no opportunity for the accused people to learn their sources," the association added.

B. W. Menke, chief of security for the AEC here, said, however, that the investigations being carried on here were of an "informal nature" and were being conducted by a three-man "personnel security board" in "particular cases." He declined to name the nature of the cases or the number of scientists who had been brought under the board's surveillance.

Sacrificial Magnesium Rusts Away to Guard Other Metals

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—A new sacrificial metal, as oil men call it, that rusts itself completely away to protect other metal from rust was shown at the International Petroleum exposition today.

The metal is magnesium, the light-weight stuff extracted from seawater at Freeport, Tex.

For the wasting-away trick the metal is alloyed with a little clay aluminum and zinc. It is shown by the Dow Chemical company of Midland, Mich.

The protection against rust is applied to all metal underground or under water. Corrosion of such metal, the Dow company says, runs into billions of dollars yearly with nearly a quarter of a million dollar loss to oil pipelines.

Magnesium can plug much of the loss, the company says. A chunk of the metal is buried in the ground near whatever other metal structure is to be protected. A wire connects the sacrificial metal to the other. Thereupon the sacrificial metal starts rusting and the other stops. The protection is said to be good for one to ten years, depending on soil and water conditions.

The protection continues until the magnesium has vanished.

The explanation is that underground rust occurs because electric currents run along metal structures and out into the ground. Where the electricity runs out, rust forms, and holes are eaten.

When the wire is run between the metal to be protected and the sacrificial magnesium, all the electricity of the protected structure runs into the magnesium—none into the ground. But from the magnesium the electricity runs into the ground, resulting in rusting. This kind of connection makes a battery out of the ground and the two metals.

Magnesium is said by the Dow company to be three times more potent in saving rust than any other metal. The clay is added to insure drawing enough moisture to keep the earth battery working.

Permanent Draft Seen By Andrews

Estimates Higher Defense Spending

WASHINGTON —(UP)—Chairman Walter G. Andrews of the House armed services committee believes the United State probably will have to maintain either the draft or universal military training "on a permanent basis."

Andrews said Wednesday his two-year 19-through-25 draft bill, now awaiting an okay from the House rules committee, will boost defense spending to an estimated $17,500,000,000 annually. That was the highest estimate so far.

In a statement filed with the rules committee, Andrews said the alternative to permanent conscription legislation in "the foreseeable future" is to gamble with the national security.

His formal statement was a revised version of oral testimony he delivered before the rules group yesterday. As he continued his oral testimony today, he ran into a barrage of hostile comment.

Andrews served notice he has not abandoned the fight for universal military training But he obviously has given up hope for UMT at this session of Congress.

The draft, he said, is a stop-gap measure. UMT, he said is the long-range answer to this nation's demand for "a strong armed force for the present and foreseeable future."

"It should thus be recognized," he said, "that this country must probably accept either UMT or selective service on a permanent basis for the foreseeable future."

Andrews' new estimate of defense costs topped those of defense officials. Defense Secretary James Forrestal has said military spending will total about $16,500,000,000 annually, provided the new air force is held to 66 groups as he proposed.

The Andrews bill contemplates providing manpower for a 70-group air force And Congress has passed a bill to order the first planes of a force that size. The air force now totals 55 groups.

Big Deficit Anticipated

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Byrd (D-Va) predicts a federal budget deficit close to $10,000,000,000 by 1950. He told the Senate Wednesday this "will mean an increase in taxes which will shake the private enterprise system to its very foundations."

Byrd said also there will be a deficit for the fiscal year starting July 1, but he did not estimate it. He forecast a deficit of from $7,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 between cash expenditures and cash income for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949.

For the following year, Byrd told his colleagues, "the deficit may be approximately $10,000,000,000.

TB Hospital Cost to Near $800,000

Lowest of Bids Totals $642,643

Richland county's new tuberculosis sanatorium will be approximately an $800,000 project before it is completed, a study of construction bids and plans disclosed today.

Most of the $700,000 voted by the county's electorate for the hospital will go for construction.

The lowest combination of bids opened yesterday added up to a total of $642,643.

The federal government, however, has promised to pay one-third of the total cost of equipping the institution up to a maximum of $104,566.

Since such items as plumbing, heating, and elevators are included in "equipment," the federal government could be asked for nearly the entire sum it has earmarked for Richland county's hospital.

LOW BIDS LISTED

The low bids on the plumbing, heating and ventilating came to $111,990, electrical work, $32,224; and elevators and dumb-waiters, $21,779. The federal government will pay one-third of that $165,993 total or $55,331.

In addition, the government will pay one-third the approximately $90,000 required to equip the hospital with beds furniture and X-Ray equipment.

Also, architect's fees for the equipping will be paid for in the amount of one-third by the government. As a result, the government will contribute almost the $104,566 maximum granted for the hospital.

CONTRACT AWARDED

The Richland County TB building commission yesterday awarded the contract for the general construction to Louis Zahn, Mansfield, but withheld awarding the other contracts until consultation with state and federal representatives.

Dr. John S. Hattery, chairman of the building commission, said he would call a meeting soon as the federal representatives give approval of the low bids on equipment.

Other low bidders were Malone Plumbing company of Mansfield, Buchman Electrical Construction company, Mansfield, and the Warsaw Elevator company of Warsaw, N. Y.

Galion Patrol To Be Feted

GALION—The 140 members of the School Patrol of the Galion public and parochial schools and the Mt. Gilead schools will be guests Saturday of the Galion Automobile club, sponsor of the patrol.

This is an annual party given to patrol members as a reward for their efforts in safeguarding the lives of their schoolmates at street corners in school zones during the school year.

During the year, the Galion Automobile club furnished safety lessons, posters, badges, belts and raincoats for patrol members.

The patrol in Galion has an enviable record, with no accidents to any school child in a school zone where the patrol has been on duty.

The patrol was organized in Galion 17 years ago by Grace Thomas, secretary of the Galion Triple A club. For the party, Mrs. Thomas plans to entertain the group at Senior high school where two safety films will be shown and special music will be provided. Later the group will go to the Junior high for a picnic lunch.

Parents of patrol members and presidents of the P-TA will assist Mrs. Thomas in serving.

GOP Senators Set for Discussions on Mundt-Nixon Bill

House Votes For Measure 319 to 58

Intended as Curb On Communists

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate Republican leaders today promised discussion—but no early action—on the anti-Communist bill banged through the House by a 319 to 58 vote.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) told a reporter there "certainly" will be judiciary committee hearings on the measure sponsored by Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Calif).

It is designed to curb Communist party activities as a "clear and present danger" to the United States.

The Mundt-Nixon bill says an international communist movement is plotting to set up a dictatorship in this country through Moscow-controlled organizations. It tabs the Communist party here as one of such controlled groups

With stiff fines and imprisonment, the measure makes it illegal to try to create a foreign controlled dictatorship in this country.

Senator Taft of Ohio, who heads the Republican policy committee, said he thinks the measure needs "serious study" before the Senate acts on it.

SEES WEAKNESS

"As I read the bill," Taft said, "it requires the registration of anybody who is trying to set up a dictatorship. But that would be an admission of what becomes a crime under the bill. So there would be no registration. I'm afraid it would merely drive communists underground."

On the other hand, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) a judiciary committee member, said he thinks the measure makes any subversive activity of a communist a crime.

"I think it will cope with a situation we are facing, if we actually enforce it," he said. "We already have laws on this point, but I think we have fallen down in enforcing them and I'm willing to take this new step."

Senator Kilgore (D-WVA), another committee member, said he doesn't like the idea of trying to control a man's thinking by legislation.

"I think that's getting us into the field of Gestapo methods," Kilgore added.

Senator Dworshak (R-Idaho) said he inclined to agree with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York that "you can't legislate a philosophy out of business."

Dewey contended in a radio debate this week that the bill would not outlaw the communist party. Harold E. Stassen said, in effect, that it would.

New Road Bill Mapped

Senator Ralph A. Winter of Lodi, who represents Richland county and the 27th-29th district in the Ohio senate, is preparing a new turnpike bill to present to the Ohio Turnpike committee trustees in Columbus May 28.

He said the bill would set up a commission to supervise financing and construction of self-supporting superhighways which would be financed by private capital. Senator Winter introduced in the senate a bill to accomplish the same purpose in January, 1947. The bill passed the senate but the 97th general assembly adjourned before the house of representatives took a vote on its passage.

"The bill I am drafting now," Senator Winter said, "will be changed somewhat from the one I introduced in January, 1947. It is my hope to draft a bill which will merit the support of the great majority of members in both houses of the legislature."

Trustees of the Ohio Turnpike committee, which will study Senator Winter's bill includes Ernest M. Green, Cleveland, president; A. C. Neff, Middletown, first vice-president; Ralph W. Sanborn, Columbus, secretary-treasurer; Frank Converse, Cleveland; Ray Finn, Cincinnati, H. R. Klepinger, Cleveland; William McGraw, Bellaire; Charles McKee, Columbus, Don Patterson, Lorain; Paul Prince, Dover, and William J. Reardon, Cincinnati.

Bowman's companion in the $248 robbery, Wallace R. Black, 24, of Columbus, will go on trial for a similar charge next Thursday at 9 a. m. His attorney is James V. Will.

Trial of Albert Elliott, 18, of 225 Newman street, charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl, will be heard Monday at 9 a. m. Elliott is represented by Atty. H. Eugene Ryan.

Plan Start On Hospital Next Week

Final Contracts Let For Project

Work on the new Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium probably will start next week, Architect Herbert S. Jones said today.

Plans are being made to hold ground-breaking ceremonies at the site on State Route 39 southeast of Mansfield.

Low bidders on equipment for the proposed new tuberculosis sanatorium were awarded contracts for the job today by the hospital building commission, subject to the approval of the federal government which will pay one-third of the equipment costs.

Low bidders were given the nod of approval at a noon meeting in the office of Architect Jones. He said approval by federal authorities "just a matter of formality" is expected in a few days.

All bids on the equipment, including plumbing, heating ventilating, wiring and elevators will be sent to the state health department in Columbus from where they will be forwarded to the U. S. division office of health in Chicago.

Low bidders were: Malone Plumbing, Inc., $111,990 on plumbing, heating and ventilating, $13,439 under the estimate of $125,529; Buchman Electric Construction company of Mansfield, $32,224 for wiring, $2,996 under the estimate of $35,220 for the job; and the Warsaw Elevator company of Warsaw, N. Y., $21,779 for elevators and dumb waiters.

Total of equipment bids was $165,993, of which one-third, or $55,331, will be paid through federal aid. As part of a hospital building and improvement project, the county's new TB hospital will receive a maximum of $104,566 covering equipment costs and furnishings.

Bids on general construction and equipment were opened for the third time yesterday by county commissioners and the general construction contract was awarded to Louis Zahn, Mansfield contractor, on his low bid of $476,650.

Council also authorized the vacation of the following alleys running east or west of Muth road:

The alley between lots 9017 and 9018, between 9022 and 9023, between 9036 and 9037, between 9051 and 9052, and between 9012 and 9013.

Dem Leaders Pick Barkley

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Democratic leaders today selected Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as keynoter for their July 12 national convention. Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas was named permanent chairman.

"They are both very liberal men," McGrath said, "who supported in every way the program of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman."

Shock Fells Pipe Layer

Furniss A McDonald, Norwalk, a supervisor of construction on the 24-inch Clear Fork pipe line being laid along Cook road, was reported in "good" condition at the General hospital today after narrowly escaping death by electric shock.

McDonald, who works for the Roger Au company, was burned when 6,900 volts of electricity passed through his body Tuesday as an electric spark jumped from a high tension line, passed down the boom of a crane and into a metal cable he was holding.

The crane had just released a section of the re-inforced concrete pipe into a 10-foot ditch and the boom snapped back when the load was released. Workmen explained that the boom did not actually touch the high tension line, but came within a foot of it and the spark jumped to the boom.

McDonald was knocked unconscious by the shock and fell into the 10-foot ditch, striking his head on the pipe. He suffered several facial cuts.

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1948

A Kansas editor says he doesn't think Mr. Truman needs a cross-country tour to show him how cross the country is.

How Good An American Are You?

AS MANSFIELD joins the nation in observance of "I Am an American Week," it might be well for each of us to ask ourselves the question: "How good an American am I?" And the question needs to be asked gravely.

Here are a few tests we might apply to ourselves:

Do we, for example, listen to the honeyed, or angry, or persuasive words of persons who appeal to our prejudices? Let us remember that our employers are people like ourselves. They work for a living, too, but with their wits instead of their hands. Conversely, let us remember that our employes want to get ahead in the world. They expect a fair return for the time and effort expended and for loyalty to their boss.

Remembering this, we will be less likely to fall for the words of irresponsible persons in politics, labor, or management. We will not be so easily led into thinking that our fellow Americans can be scoundrels—which is exactly what the agitators want us to think so they can play upon our emotions.

Next, do we fulfill our simple responsibilities to school, church and community organizations? Do we try to discuss politics without too much passion? And do we vote at every opportunity? If we do all these things there is not too much to fear from the forces which would pervert and stain and misdirect our thoughts and actions.

Finally, do we make it a point to know the background and purposes of our leaders in local labor, business, religion and education? Here in the grass roots, alone, will democracy and Americanism be preserved or destroyed. It is your job as a good American to preserve and nourish the principle of equal justice under law in your own community.

Senate Tackles Knotty Job

THE QUESTION of government supports for farm prices now is ready for the floor of the senate. The present price support program expires at the end of this year.

The basic idea of parity price support is to maintain what is regarded officially as a fair relationship between the prices received by the farmer for his crops and the prices he pays for goods bought. Most people will agree that the idea is good. Everybody wants parity—the clerk and the factory worker and the dock hand want a fair relationship between their wages and the prices they pay for goods. Other industries would like the same kind of guarantees for their products.

The government has gotten deeply into the business of guaranteeing an almost unlimited market at assured minimum prices for farm products. The measure reported out to the senate by its Agriculture committee represents an effort to disentangle the government to a small degree without giving up the parity idea. It aims at a flexible parity formula which would allow for some following of the laws of economics, for lower prices on produce when it is abundant than on the same produce when scarce. The general level of price supports would be lowered a little, and the number of specific items supported would be cut.

The senate is tackling a knotty problem, one which is politically explosive. It will need courage and vision. A little advice and support from the constituency might not be amiss.

An Honor Richly Deserved

AS CONCLUDED in yesterday's interview with Miss Rebecca Grubaugh, "It couldn't have happened to a nicer person" and, for that matter, it couldn't have happened in a nicer way. We refer, of course, to the renaming of Western Avenue school in honor of Miss Grubaugh.

Her record of teaching 36 years in the same room at the school is truly exceptional. Even more outstanding are the affection with which her pupils have regarded her and her consuming interest in their welfare after they left her immediate tutelage. It is also most gratifying to have the board of education act, at the suggestion of Supt. W. L. Miller, while Miss Grubaugh is still busy at her daily tasks in the school.

Surely, here is a notable example of the reward that can come to any person who will devote his or her life modestly and earnestly to teaching—or to any profession, for that matter. And while "Beckie" Grubaugh should certainly enjoy the honor bestowed upon her, she must know that the memories she keeps in her own heart and the warm place she holds in the hearts of many others are among the finest things that can come to any human being.

Trade Act In Danger

IT IS regrettable that the house leadership has settled upon a one-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act. The decision leads observers both here and abroad to fear an intention to scuttle the program next year.

This fear will not be lessened by the proposal to hobble the state deparment in its use of the act. The extension pattern blessed by the house leaders would set up a body to be known as the federal tariff commission, to study proposed reciprocal trade agreements and decide what tariff concessions could be made "without injury to the domestic economy or the national security." The congress would be given veto power over any agreement which might overstep the bounds set by this commission.

Apparently the authors of this scheme are behind the times. The reciprocal trade agreements program has proved effective as a trade stimulant. Far-sighted economics and business groups, many of which used to be supporters of high tariffs, favor continuance of the program. A recent Gallup poll showed that among persons who know what it is 80 per cent are for it. Out-moded political ideas should not be permitted to get in the way.

What Some Other People Are Saying

Oregon Witnesses Bang-Up Campaign

PORTLAND — In this exciting week in Oregon, some local people are asking why their state has become the center of political interest in this big country.

The crop of delegates to be selected is not so large. Twelve is a small portion of 1,100. Nineteen were selected in neighboring Washington at a convention during all the Oregon furor, and there hardly was a word about it in the papers. And all over the country, hundreds of delegates have been picked with less fanfare.

One reason for the intense interest in Oregon is the melancholy fact that this is the last chance John Q. Public is going to have to vote directly for a Presidential candidate until November. Another and more important reason is that this primary means so much to the two young men who are running. Defeat will not kill the chances of either; but a loss here will be a real setback in prestige, which will weigh heavily in the minds of vacillating and uninstructed delegates in other states.

Oregon has not seen the like of this for many, many years. Towns and cities are full of political advertising, noisy headquarters and streetcorner arguments. The air, night and day, is full of political broadcasts. Everybody is enjoying it but the weary and haggard managers who have had to do a year's organizing in three or four weeks.

Even the candidates seem to be having a good time. The physical strain is terrific. It is a good thing that they are young and sound. This is no game for an elder statesman. Both candidates travel mostly in buses. No town is too small for a stop. Speeches, except in big Portland meetings, are off the cuff. Traveling is over great distances and sometimes over rough country.

But it is not a rough or dirty campaign. Things are as polite as the intensity of the show permits.

Anecdotes accumulate. A truck bearing Stassen knocked over a lamppost in one town. The candidate promptly bought the town a new lamppost. More recently, Dewey's bus killed a dog. Dewey bought the owner a new dog.

In Cascade Locks, population 700, school was out to greet Dewey. The mayor wearing a Dewey button, was on hand. Stassen came along and harangued the crowd. Then Dewey came. Seeing the crowd listening to his rival, he went on. He would not, he explained, break into the opposition's meetings. The mayor, a reporter says, then replaced the Dewey button with two Stassen buttons.

Six months ago, all good political judges regarded Dewey as the leading choice of Oregon Republicans. Then came the Stassen hurricane. Two months ago, it looked like Stassen as a 3-1 favorite.

The counterattack by Dewey, however, has made a basic change in those opinions. Reporters who are personally favorable to Stassen or some other candidate all admit that the chances now, a day before the primary, are about even. Those who like Dewey believe he has a much better than even chance to win. The fact is that Dewey's campaign has reversed a trend, and that the trend is now in his favor and is continuing.

The outlaw-communism issue is not a particularly happy one. Both candidates seem to have blundered into it, and now they have to keep it up. Because it is a complicated legal problem, it is not a good subject for political debate. And under our constitution it is really a state issue. Many people would like to hear more pertinent issues discussed.

But in a campaign like this, it is the personal attractiveness of the candidates that counts. And both are showing real political color.

Congress Turns to DP's

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It seems to have taken us rather long to come around to a very simple human problem, and one to which our tradition calls us—which is to provide homes and an opportunity to live and work here for a part of the 800,000 displaced persons still in camps in Europe, existing on hopes and short rations.

But at last we apparently are on the verge of doing something. The Senate is beginning consideration this week of a bill to provide a haven here, and House Republican leaders are making a canvass to see the prospects for passage of a measure that is ready for that branch.

It would be a tragic failure of our responsibility if Congress recessed without acting finally on this problem, which we not only are so well-equipped to handle but which we are under certain obligations to accept.

Some 500,000 of the 800,000 displaced persons are in our own zone in Germany. Because of our leadership in international matters, and because of our ability as a great, prosperous nation with an expanding economy, other nations not so favorably fixed are looking to us to take the leadership and set an example in this humanitarian project. It is quite a tribute to us, too, and to our traditional reputation, that most of the refugees from European tyrannies make our country their first choice for resettlement.

We cannot, of course, take them all. Nobody proposes that. But we can do our share.

Now that Congress finally seems disposed to act, it is fitting that it should act generously and wisely. The Wiley bill, reported to the Senate by its judiciary committee as the basis for legislation, falls short of a wise and generous and satisfactory solution in some particulars. But, fortunately, some liberalizing amendments have been prepared to increase the number of persons to be admitted and to remove certain restrictions in the Wiley measure. This will give the Senate an opportunity to write an adequate bill.

Amendments sponsored jointly by a group of senators would increase the number to be admitted from the 100,000 in the Wiley bill —50,000 in each of the next two years—to 200,000, with 100,000 in each year. Other changes also are proposed by this group, which includes Senators Ferguson (R., Mich.), Cooper (R., Ky.), Saltonstall (R., Mass.), Smith (R., N. J.) and McGrath (D., R. I.). Still more liberal provisions are proposed in a substitute by two Democrats, Senators Hatch (N. Mex.) and McGrath, that adopts the Fellows bill in the House, which authorizes entry of 200,000 in two years, as a basis and amends that bill in some particulars.

* * *

Would Broaden Bill.

Amendments sponsored by the senatorial group would give far broader powers than does the Wiley bill to the commission of three set up to administer the displaced-persons program. They also would wipe out a 50 per cent priority in the Wiley bill for displaced persons from so-called "annexed areas," meaning Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, and Poland east of the Curzon line. Likewise, they would remove a restriction in the Wiley bill which makes eligible for admission here only those who were in the zones specified—Western Germany, Austria, Italy—on Dec. 22, 1947. The date would be changed to April 1, 1947, to take care of Jews in the zones, most of whom have come in since the earlier date. Those there on the earlier date have gone either to Cyprus or have come here.

The Fellows bill in the House eliminates not only the 50 per cent priority for those from "annexed areas," but also a 50 per cent priority in the Wiley bill for those with previous agricultural experience, substituting for the latter a general priority for a number of groups including farm workers, doctors, nurses, garment workers, and other industrial groups.

It also regularizes the status of an additional 15,000 displaced persons already in this country so they can become citizens.

Many now forlorn and desperate people who would contribute to our nation, as have the millions who have come in the past—back to the first bold colonists—are looking to us to deal justly and generously to relieve a great human tragedy.

Polk Murder Linked to Rightists

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — George Polk, the American news commentator, whose bullet-pierced, bound-up body was found in Salonika bay, wrote me a letter before his death about his troubles with the Greek government. Based on this letter and otherwise, evidence points to the probability that rightist forces within the government were responsible for Polk's murder.

In the first place, only the Greek government had access to his broadcasts. Only they knew how critical he had been of Greek rightist attempts to sabotage the American reconstruction program. The Greek guerrillas, on the other hand, had everything to gain from the interview with Polk which he sought.

In addition, all sorts of obstacles had been placed in Polk's path. The Greek government did not want him in Greece and did everything possible to get him out. Here is a sample of Greek obstruction:

"During the past four days, I've been trying to make arrangements for flying to Salonika," Polk wrote. "I've been to the Foreign Ministry press section, to the Greek Air Force headquarters, to the Greek commercial air line, and to the government air travel priority department. Today, after four days of leg work and innumerable telephone calls, I have not succeeded in making any arrangements.

"Everything is tied up in red tape. The airlines will not say whether they have a seat or not. First, I've got to produce a priority; but I can't get the priority until I give the seat number and flight number and date of the plane I will take. So, back and forth I've been like a tennis ball. The plan is to make me fret myself into a tizzy—or perhaps give up the trip. Yet if I made an issue of all this red tape, everybody would blandly say that Polk is simply 'impatient'."

* * *

Polk Was a Battler.

George Polk was a fighter, whether as newspaperman or in the service of his country. During the war as a navy pilot he was in the thick of the battle of Guadalcanal, broke his back in a crash landing, came home to fight for unification of the army and navy.

One of the things that griped him was his memory of an army pilot sinking in the water with the navy refusing to rescue him until it cleared with the army.

In Greece, George fought the grafters and the rightwing extremists. An article in Harper's Magazine told a revealing story. In writing to me, he told how reactionaries in the government sought to discredit American newsmen who were critical. Apparently he had some premonition of trouble, for he said: "The rightwing is trying to get a number of us discredited or removed from Greece."

"Royalist Ethmos has denounced 'irresponsible correspondents' who write 'unfavorable and misleading' stories about the Greek government," George continued.

"The attack upon correspondents is being made by the Royalist political group known as the Populist party. Under leadership of Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris, key Populist members throughout the government appear to be implementing a carefully devised offensive.

* * *

Greek Ambassador Criticizes.

"As an illustration of the method of attack, consider a letter concerning me written by Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis, an ultra-rightist supporter of the Tsaldaris clique. Strangely enough, Dendramis wrote to CBS president Frank Stanton complaining about my article on Greece in the December 'Harper's Magazine.' Dendramis is smart enough not to write to 'Harper's' because he knows the magazine probably would publish the letter, thereby enabling me to answer his charges in print.

"However, my case up to the present is rather mild compared with the attack being made against other out-spoken reports on the scene. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has just written to the 'Christian Science Monitor' complaining that their correspondent in Greece, Constantine Argyris, is guilty of using offensive language in dealing with Greek government officials and also is guilty of drunkenness at interviews. Knowing Argyris as well as I do—and having the highest respect for his professional and personal attributes—I know this charge is a lie.

"Another correspondent who has drawn Greek rightwing fire is Ray Daniell of the 'New York Times.' He arrived in Greece unaccompanied by his wife and when his articles proved displeasing for the rightwing politicians, they spread malicious slander about Daniell.

"Yet another reporter who had provoked the Greek rightwing is Homer Bigart, of the New York Herald Tribune. At the moment, being a newcomer in Greece, Bigart is getting the 'treatment' that others of us already have had. In particular he is being denied routine press privileges while trying to cover the Konitsa battle.

"The pattern of the rightwing's attack on the other American correspondents here is clever—public denunciation plus official obfuscation. There is nothing so tangible as censorship or blunt refusal to allow a reporter to visit the civil war areas; instead, there is a clever plan of making news work in Greece as difficult as possible for critical correspondents.

"In addition, now that so many correspondents are writing such critical stories on the dominant rightwing faction of the government, there are a number of vague hints that 'somebody is likely to get hurt'."

Poor George didn't know, when he wrote those prophetic lines, that he was to be the man who would get "hurt." His murder, however, may be the cause celebre which will bring to the surface the ugly scandals of Greece—scandals which the American people very much need to know about. To that end, this column will soon publish further revelations regarding dynamite-laden Greece.

As Cerf Tells It

An ambitious woodpecker invaded the giant redwood forest in California, and fearlessly selected as his objective the mightiest specimen in the grove. He had given a single peck, when a bolt of lightning struck the tree. It toppled to the ground with a tremendous thud. The woodpecker looked at it with some surprise, and murmured, "Gosh! I guess I don't know my own strength."

Assignment: America

Rebellion In the Army

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Around the world, there are strange times of weather and winds which have a maddening, rebellious, mutinous effect on the most normal men and women, causing them to behave in ways completely foreign to their ordinary conduct.

In tropical countries, it is the season of the monsoon. In other areas, varying from the desert sands to the frozen Arctic, it is the sirocco, the bora, the mistral, the khamsin, or one of their varied kin.

Whatever it is, it seems to breed a mysterious mutiny in the men who fall under its seasonal spell.

There are those today who have the feeling that historians may someday refer to the year 1948 in America as the "year of the monsoon season." Whatever the cause, it seems to be the year of rebellion, the year of mutiny against previous habits, customs, agreements and obediences.

You see it everywhere—in the political rebellions, in the intra-organization labor disputes, in the legislative-executive conflicts and in the hot-tempered judicial feuds which have recently arisen.

Particularly, you see it this year in Washington.

Most frightening, perhaps, is the mutiny which has sprung up during recent days in the upper ranks of the Army. More frightening because, while obedience was the custom in the State department, it is the grimly-enforced law in the Army — as well as being equally as strong a tradition.

In this instance, it concerns the rebellion of career soldiers who have specialized in infantry tactics all their professional lives.

It has been no secret for many months that these men, jealous of the emphasis being placed on the modern need of air power in any future war, have been grumbling to themselves as they went about their Pentagon business. But that sort of griping on the part of upper-bracket brass is somewhat equivalent to the traditional griping of the enlisted man against irksome orders—and the high officers have been, and would be, the first to say it is quite healthy in an army.

But what is happening now is hardly such a healthy thing.

Frightened at the possibility that the ground army, as they know it, may become a secondary defense factor in future military strategy, thus forcing them out of the roles of higher command—or forcing them to learn brand-new tactics—a large group of career soldiers have banded together in almost open rebellion toward the policies of Defense Secretary James E. Forrestal.

* * *

Secret Memorandum.

It remains an "almost open" rebellion, in that they do not yet go around publicly and officially making speeches stressing their points of view, as they differ with Forrestal's emphasis on air power.

But they have done other things which, in terms of the discipline they themselves insist on in their underlings, would seem even more dangerous.

For one thing, they have semi-secretly circulated a memorandum within the club-like ranks of the upper-bracket brass in the Pentagon and elsewhere.

This memorandum has two deadly points:

1—It uses testimony of Forrestal, and top Army officers, before congressional committees to prove a point flatly inconsistent with the conclusions drawn by those same men.

2—It outlines tactics by which sympathetic Army officers, specialists in what may soon prove to be out-moded methods of warfare, may work quietly and efficiently to impress their point of view—as opposed to Forrestal's—on the public mind and on Congress.

The military has a name for such tactics when they occur in the lower echelons. But it is a nasty name and not a pretty thing to appear in print in this connection.

Suffice it to say that the mad spirit of rebellion in this "monsoon year" seems to have infiltrated the ranks of the military, too.

Farmer's Diary

The Worm Is Marching

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I must have been about twelve years old when a lecturer came to our town. He told a story about a young man who set off with his bride to stake a claim in the west. They drove a covered wagon with a team of mules to pull it. They were part of a long wagon train of pioneers, many of whom planned to keep on to California.

When they had crossed the Kansas border, a wild storm blew up one night and upset the wagon. Telling of it afterward, the story went that the mules were blown out of their traces and the molasses out of the newly baked gingercake. The whole party hugged the dark earth and dug their hands into the prairie grass. When the storm had passed the young pioneer scooped up handfuls of the loose dark soil and told his bride, "We'll stay right here. Do you see those worms wriggling like burnished copper when the sun shines on them?" He laid one on her wrist, and she flung it at him. "Soil like this is gold enough for us," he told her. And so they stayed.

In my boyish mind that incident first linked worms with fertility and gold. Since then they keep cropping up along the line of good agriculture, and have been frequently mentioned in this column as the champion soil builders of all time.

Quite recently an epidemic of "Earthworm Farms" has spread about the country. I believe it's a good thing. Possibly the greatest living authority on earthworms is Thos. J. Barrett, whose new book "Harnessing the Earthworm" is soon to be published by an English publisher. Mr. Barrett has transformed a barren hillside in California into a famous, and very profitable business—an earthworm hatchery.

Locally, there are several Ohio hatcheries, of which the oldest I believe is the one at Worthington, Ohio owned by a Mrs. Warner and her daughter. I wrote about my visit there some years ago, when the idea of health from whole garden soil was just beginning to get around. Mrs. Warner's grandson, fed on fruits and vegetables from her garden, seemed to her to be immune to childhood diseases and to have more perfect teeth than most children of his age. She had a lovely garden.

Miss Loretha Potter, a Cleveland teacher, sent me literature about her earthworm farms a year ago—and this last week George Keil, of our home city, Mansfield, O., has gone into business. George's worm as pictured has a placard over one shoulder and seems to be marching along.

These hybrid worms make rich black soil out of whatever they eat. My wife had a crock of them under the kitchen sink all last winter . . . just a handfull of worms turned carrot tops, banana peels, snibblings of cornmeal and stale crumbs into black earth that wriggled with tiny wormlets and capsules—which pass for eggs, in wormy parlance. We put some into our compost heap, too. But just now our hens are having a field day, since the stuff isn't spread around over the garden yet.

Rebels Plan 'Ike' Boom

General Might Be Nominated

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen Dwight D Eisenhower's name may be the first placed in nomination for the presidency at the Democratic national convention

When nominating time comes, the roll of states is called alphabetically. If present plans pan out, the Alabama delegation may use its top listing to try to start an Eisenhower boom before President Truman's name is put up.

Alabama electors already have been instructed never to vote for Mr. Truman. Its delegation, to be completed in a runoff primary soon, is primed to walk out of the convention if a platform supporting Mr. Truman's civil rights views is adopted and if the President wins the nomination Most politicians regard the latter outcome as almost certain.

The Eisenhower move apparently is designed to give southern civil rights rebels a name to rally around in a fight against Mr Truman's nomination

Even should Alabama elect not to nominate Eisenhower, it could accomplish the same result by yielding to Sen Olin D Johnston of South Carolina, leader of the south's "ditch Truman" forces, who has said he will place Eisenhowers name before the convention

The trend was indicated Wednesday when a South Carolina Democratic convention was urged to break with President Truman Nearly 1,000 party members from the overwhelmingly Democratic state gave thunderous applause to an assertion by Keynoter George Warren a state senator, that "we owe no allegiance" to national party leaders

Soggy Earth Hampers Clear Fork Work

Too Much Rain Delays Water Project

By SHELDON BINN

Too much water where they don't need it and not enough where they do, sums up the problem facing city officials and engineers on the Clear Fork water works project.

Mansfield's parched throat has been calling for water for the last couple of years—and it has been getting it, only in the wrong places.

In fact, water, which is the object of the $2,000,000 Clear Fork project, has been the very thing keeping the city from getting more water.

The large Clear Fork dam behind which the city will store its water, was scheduled for completion last year, but heavy spring rains in 1947 made it impossible to move the earth

The work dragged along hampered by the wet weather and when the winter freezes set in and halted the work, the dam was only 80 per cent complete

STILL TOO WET

Contractor Roger J Au hopes to complete the work on the dam within the next two months He said that 50,000 cubic yards of earth still must be moved but that as long as the earth is soaked down, no work can begin

"We wanted to get started last Monday, but the rain caused us to postpone operations The same thing happened this week

"If things dry up some, we'll get started next Monday, but if it continues to rain, we'll just have to continue to postpone things," Au said.

The Richland construction company, which is building the $121,000 pumping station for the Clear Fork project, reports the same difficulty

Rain has bogged down operations and forced postponement of the laying of the foundation for the building

The only part of the project now under construction that is moving along on schedule is the three-mile pipeline from the pumping station at the foot of Cook road to the Woodland reservoir.

Au reported that more than half the pipe has been put into the ground and that he hopes to have the rest of the line laid within the next month

Council Prepares To Evict Family

PAINESVILLE— (UP) —City council yesterday moved to evict the family of Ernest J Sherwood which has lived in a tool shed in recreation park for a year and nine months

The council mailed a letter to Sherwood ordering him to vacate the building because it is needed for storage of park equipment.

U. S. Bans Red Papers

Action Described As Retaliation

BERLIN —(U.P.)— The American military government has banned the "import, sale, distribution or display" of Russian-authorized publicans in the American zone of Germany.

The order was effective yesterday. It was issued by Col. Gordon Textor, director of the information control department of the U. S. military government.

Textor said the move was necessary because of the "habitual banning, confiscation, and smothering out" of American publications and newspapers in the Russian zone.

Textor explained that the order was related only to the U. S. zone and did not affect the American sector of Berlin.

Furthermore, he declared that the move was not a permanent one but that the ban of Soviet publications would remain in effect "until the Soviet military administration permits unrestricted circulation of U. S. authorized publications in the Russian zone."

Don't Confuse Requests and Commands

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Many parents are all mixed up over matters of obedience in the young child. Such parents may otherwise be very intelligent and well educated, college or university graduates, business executives, lawyers, physicians, dentists, preachers, engineers or college professors.

Any parents who believe the child should be made to obey or who feel delighted on discovering I recommend selective spanking of the young child may proceed to spank the youngster, two or three, to make him do something they request or command him to do as feel delighted on discovering I recommend selective spanking of the young child may proceed to spank the youngster, two or three, to make him do something they request or command him to do as readily as they would spank him if he defied their 'No' or 'Don't.' They overlook the simple biological principle that all living things tend to repeat what gave pleasure and to avoid doing what has given pain.

They also overlook the fact that a child requires some age and experience to discover that avoiding pain or punishment is equivalent to gaining satisfaction in the long run; that whereas the average child over six or eight might profit at times from punishment requiring him to do a few things he is told to do the youngster two or three usually lacks enough experience to make this practical translation.

REQUESTS AND COMMANDS

But still more amazing is the proneness of many parents, however highly educated in books, to treat a request as if it were a command. Accordingly they will ask the tot, even the child much older, to do something. Then if the youngster makes no response to accede or if he defiantly says, "I won't" the parent will say, "You must." After several such experiences the child naturally comes to the conclusion that all requests are mere hypocrisy (commands in requests' clothing). Then what have the parents left for winning cooperation in the youngster?

If your child two or three kicks you on your shins, calls you an ugly name in derision, or does anything else you clearly have forbidden him once not to do, turn him over your knee as quickly as possible and smack him soundly. But if you ask him to close the door or hand you a book, try to be so persuasive that he will gladly do it. And if he doesn't, don't then tell him he must or even feel vexed at him.

IMPLIES CHOICE

As you clearly see, an honest request implies that the person requested is to choose while a command implies that it must be done or else. Properly the child should be punished if he defies a command, but why should he be punished if he does not choose to comply with a request? Ever so many letters come to me about the tot who, having been requested to do something, is punished or threatened if he does not accede to the request. All such cases show that the parent concerned draws no distinction between a request and a command. Here is a sample:

"It has gotten to the place where my son two and a half years old doesn't want to do something I request of him in a kind tone of voice. To get the desired result I have to let him see a paddle in my hand."

You know the answer I gave her in my personal reply. Anyone who wishes to read further on this matter should write me enclosing a stamped envelope and ask for my bulletin, "Stubbornness." If I could get this point over to young parents who read this column there would be fewer stubborn children in the United States and Canada.

For cabana, beach or town are two high-styled cottons for the teen-agers. Simplicity is the keynote for Junior First's striped cotton at left. It's Dan River Dantone with a self yoke topped with a frosty eyelet ruffle and bow. It is available in green, blue or brown with white stripe. Sizes 7-15 at $8.95, designed by Ciccone. HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 21.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

RATHER adverse and trying conditions seem to dominate on this day, judging by conflicting astral influences. It is probable that finances, property, family interests and possessions, and general welfare are at stake, with dangers from loss and treacherous entanglements. However, there is possibility that a judicious use of the purely personal element, with social, cultural or financial influence, could find happy and lucrative reactions on all menaced objectives and ties. Take care of health and that of the family as well.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is are advised to take heed of the safety and endurance of their health, possessions, ambitions and objectives of all contacts and interests in life. These are under a rather crystallized or static influence, which calls for a careful, prudent and sagacious course of action, since business, family and romantic associations are slowed down. However, the judicious use of the personal element, social, artistic, professional or financial, have promise of setting aside obstacles and limitations. Family, love affairs and all kindred interests may gain by the injection of personality, charm, magnetism. Plans, motives and goals demand discretion.

A child born on this day, although meeting with opposition and limitations in life, are fortified to dispose of these by a prudent use of its personal graces, charms, talents and pleasant disposition.

Gelatin salads are popular for springtime menus. Dissolve plain gelatin in hot apricot whole fruit nectar for the base of your fruit molds. Season it according to your own taste with lemon juice, spices, etc. Its color is beautiful and its flavor most refreshing.

Navy Bandsmen to Receive Official Reception Saturday

When the 55 members of the U. S. Navy band arrive in Mansfield about noon Saturday they will be given an "official" reception at Central park.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison will head the welcoming committee which will escort the bandsmen to Senior high auditorium for an afternoon concert.

LT. CMDR. BRENDLER

The band's matinee and evening concerts at Senior high auditorium are sponsored by Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority for the benefit of the new county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Tickets for the concerts are on sale at booths at the Richland Trust building and O'Neil's and at Tawse's and Smart's and Thomas's music stores.

The noted band, directed by Lt. Cmdr. Charles Brendler, will present concerts of popular, classical, and military music. Several soloists will be featured in the concerts.

The organization's official status as "the band" of the U. S. Navy was established by Congress in 1925. The band has been one of the nation's proudest organization since then.

Its history, however, dates back to World War I.

More accurately, perhaps, its history dates back to the first musician ever to board an American Man-of-War and that would be at least 122 years ago.

When the American Frigate "Brandywine" heeled to the wind and plowed the seas in defense of American rights, she carried aboard her one James F. Draper, musician. Draper never became a figure of national importance. It is not even recorded that he ever played a note, except on the Frigate "Brandywine".

But, Draper was the first musician ever recorded on the log of an American Naval vessel and so to the United States Navy band he is a figure of some historical significance. His name appeared on the "Brandywine's" payroll of July 26, 1925. His pay was $10 a month.

The first Naval band officially recorded in the pay table of the Navy register appeared in 1838. It consisted of a bandmaster, four first class musicians and one second class musician.

Fined $10 and Costs

GALION — Willis E. Pry of near Galion was fined $10 and costs when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Richard E. Riblet on a charge of passing a school bus which was unloading children at 4:15 p. m. last Thursday.

Loop Smoke Nuisance Hit

CHICAGO—(UP)—Chicago aldermen are considering a plan for central heating, air conditioning and electrical systems for the Loop which would cut smoke volume in the area 50 per cent.

Cost of the project is estimated at $45,000,000 and plans call for completion two to three years after it is authorized.

The Chicago Loop Co-operative Association, backer of the plan, estimates that 80 per cent of all Loop buildings could be served.

'Men of Erie' Contest Story For Pupils

Early Beginnings of Rail Customs

MEN OF ERIE

EDITOR'S NOTE Following is the fourth chapter in a serialization of "Men of Erie" Two more chapters to the absorbing story of the founding of the Erie railroad will appear in the News-Journal this week On the basis of this serialization, pupils of Mansfield Senior High and the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades of Madison High school may write an essay of 1,000 words or less in the News-Journal s 'Men of Erie" contest One boy and one girl will be chosen as winners The prize is an all-expense tour to New York this summer Deadline for entries is May 28

CHAPTER IV

Erie is known in railroading circles as the 'Railroad of the Firsts" The old line has earned the title over the years since its inception in any number of contributions to the industry

The fine art of junketing got its start on the Erie and perhaps the speeches made along the line as the first trains chugged from Piermont into Goshen suggested the now familiar milk trains Certainly Erie was the first to run them

On the opening of the railroad that September day in 1841 Goshen was packed with people who had come for the ceremony James Bowen, then at the helm of Erie, made the keynote speech He said that the on-line territory 'will be covered with a dense population and amidst these vast solitudes will soon be heard the hum of cities, the abode of prosperous intelligent and happy souls"

Thomas Selleck of New York may well have taken these words to heart In those early days the milk supply for the city came almost exclusively from cows that were kept in town and fed upon brewery and distillery refuse

The excellent quality of Orange County milk attracted Selleck s attention, when he was made agent for the railroad at Chester He began working out a plan to develop the business by bringing milk by rail to the markets of New York The farmers laughed at him at first, but when Philo Gregory of Goshen agreed to go in on the scheme, and his entire first shipment was snapped up business began to boom In one year the infant Erie was justifying itself to the community it served, and to this day continues the service

Charles Minot was the very able superintendent of the road at the time the first telegraphic train orders in the world were sent It was in the early Autumn of 1851 Four years earlier, a commercial telegraph line had been installed along the line of the road and from its end on through to Fredonia in Chautauqua County Gradually the magnetic telegraph caught on Operators on the part of it that paralleled the railroad developed a habit in idle moments of chatting back and forth between messages, bits of idle gossip on the weather, politics and finally on how the trains were running

Such casual gossip fired the brilliant Minot On Sept 22, 1851 the train which he was on was pulled on to a siding to wait for another train to go by The idea struck him to go to the nearby telegraph station and ask if the other locomotive had gone by up the line It had not so Minot over the protests of the timid engineer took his train into Goshen Shortly thereafter he worked out the telegraphic system which was in most current and popular use until the block system of control was brought in

On the 14th of April 1851 when the first through train from Piermont to Dunkirk started its historic trip, the Erie was the longest railroad in the country The inaugural journey was the first long-distance trip, and it deserves further attention Daniel Webster rode in a rocking chair on a flat-car Although there is no record to the effect the probabilities are that the chair was lashed to the car and Daniel to the chair He was an old man and needed taking care of Until after the Civil War, Erie justified its prophecies The celebration of the first long distance railroad junket in America augured well for the future

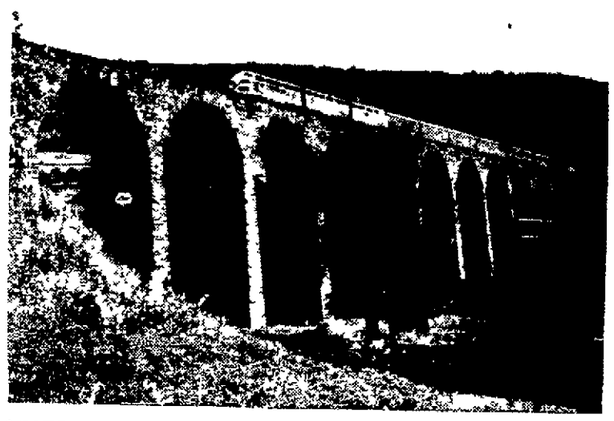
Poppy Ayres was conductor on the first train between Piermont and Dunkirk Some years before he had hit upon the scheme of rigging a rope between the cars and the locomotive with a stick attached with which to signal the engineer Despite the fact that 'Poppy' weighed 300 muscular pounds his engineer felt that such signaling was an affront to his dignity and cut the stick down several times The last time this happened Ayres stalked to the cab and soundly thrashed the engineer, thus firmly establishing the precedent which places the conductor in charge of the train on American railroads

The Erie and the Atlantic and Great Western shared the honor of running the first oil tank car ever operated upon any railroad With the discovery of oil on one of the branches of the Great Western, in 1864, the necessity of transporting the precious fluid became urgent The first method consisted of two wooden vats resting on a flat car

Once these had been filled with petroleum the railroaders were fearful that they might leak and lose their contents before the car ever reached its destination Upon its maiden trip telegrams were sent from each station that it passed, reporting the condition of the tanks The car came through magnificently and soon there were many others In the meantime the present type of tank car with its longitudinal tank and dome was being evolved

There are any number of other firsts for which the Erie is responsible Under President Underwood, several of them were developed—such as the first railroad magazine put out for employes, and the first gas-driven passenger car unit

It was Underwood who in 1915 built the 400-ton Matt Shay then the biggest locomotive in the world ' True, this engine can be only partially considered a first yet it was one of a long line of famous locomotives of which the Erie is proud



STARRUCCA VIADUCT — A century old this year, carries the heavy loads of Erie main line freight and passenger trains today When first built, railroaders hesitated to take the small trains across it.

It's Difficult to Determine Just Where War Ends, Murder Begins

NEW YORK—(AP)—Where does war end and murder begin?

That question is posed today by a stalwart six-foot-two-inch former adjutant of Heinrich Himmler—Col. Joachim Peiper, who might in time have taken Adolf Hitler's place.

And it is a hard question to answer—regardless of whether Peiper, who one of his sergeants said wanted to become "the fuehrer of the fourth reich," ultimately is hanged, goes to prison or is freed.

This handsome nazi soldier—still only 33 years old—is one of 43 German SS troops condemned to death on charges of murdering 750 American soldiers and 150 Belgian civilians during the Battle of the Bulge.

Among the victims were more than 70 unarmed members of a U.S. artillery observation battalion, shot down in the infamous "Malmedy massacre."

★

The death sentences for Peiper and his pals were passed by an international court sitting at Dachau, where the trial judge for hundreds of thousands of German concentration camp prisoners had been the gas chamber.

There was no appeal from the gas chamber. The sentences against the nazi storm troopers were appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court which refused to review it on a 4-to-4 decision that it had no jurisdiction.

This only points up again the legal difficulties in assessing war guilt.

Meanwhile Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall has ordered a stay of execution against 17 of the condemned men pending investigation of charges the nazis had been beaten and forced to confess at "mock" trials in prison by American prosecutors.

The case has an added interest because Peiper was a bold and outstanding soldier for whom some American commanders profess a reluctant off-the-record admiration.

They don't condone the crimes committed by his men. They do recognize his leadership in battle.

One American officer who had been his prisoner, Lt. Col. Hal D. McCown of Rushton, La., even flew the Atlantic to testify in Col. Peiper's defense.

He said the young nazi officer, when his progress was halted, freed 150 American prisoners and "at no time did I see mistreatment of American prisoners of war."

I remember interviewing Lt. Col. McCown near Malmedy a few hours after he got back from capture himself. Peiper, after burning his stranded tanks and guns, had taken off on foot at the head of his column of men and safely led them at night through the American lines.

McCown then—this was in December, 1944—spoke of the long philosophic talks he had had with Peiper, who was unbreakable in his nazi loyalty and contemptuous of American troops.

"Why don't you attack more at night?" he told McCown. "Night is the friend of the strong."

It is hard to remove the "Malmedy massacre" from the scene and the time—and the feeling at that time. I have heard some American officers say it has been overemphasized because an armored column on the march sometimes has to execute prisoners because it has no way to pass them back but can't let them go to signal their own troops ahead.

★

Our own armored columns on occasion followed this course. Never, however, so far as I know, on the scale the Germans did outside Malmedy. And leaving out the question of the 750 American troops killed, there are still the 150 Belgian civilians. For their deaths it is hard to advance the semblance of a military excuse.

Where does war end and murder begin? Young Col. Peiper, arrogant, brave and self-confident—the man who might have become another Hitler—is the symbol of one unfinished answer.

The shadow of night is upon him.

German Trial Witness Reveals Wartime Upset Caused By Writer

REPORT TO THE EDITORS—The following cross-examination is from the Nazi war trials. The witness on the stand is Herr von Strempel, who was attached to the Nazi embassy, Washington, before Germany declared war on the United States.

Q. What do you know about Mr. Westrick?

A. I knew him personally when he came to America.

Q. In what capacity?

A. As special envoy for Ribbentrop.

Q. What was Westrick's mission to the United States?

A. In order to use his personal relations with influential American businessmen, that they should engage in propaganda to keep America out of the war in Europe. It would be of great benefit for American economics in general, and to their business in particular.

Q. How do you know this?

A. Out of conversations with him at the Embassy.

Q. Did he indicate any particular person he proposed to contact?

A. An oil man. I cannot remember the name, but I have the recollection he was forced to resign from the board of directors because of his relations with Westrick, as exposed by Walter Winchell.

★

The name of the oil man was Tex Rieber. Several weeks after it was first disclosed in this column that Westrick was in America under the name of Dr. Webster and that he was meeting with various Americans at a hotel on the upper East Side of Manhattan, the tip was picked up by a New York newspaper, whose reporter did a masterful job of confirming it.

For his "public service" he won the Pulitzer Prize.

Finance Bill Given First Reading

Council Acts to Pass Waterworks Measure

An ordinance authorizing the floating of a $1,200,000 loan to obtain funds for the Clear Fork water project was given the first reading last night by city council.

At the same time council referred to the finance committee bids from each of the four Mansfield banks to act as trustees and paying agents for the bonds which have been sold to Braun, Bosworth and company, Toledo.

The money obtained from this loan will be used to build a filtration plant, a raw water pipeline and a low-lift pumping station.

The pumping station will be located at the site of the Clear Fork dam, now 80 per cent completed. The raw water pipe line will connect the low-lift pumping station with the joint site of a high-lift pumping station and a filtration plant at the foot of Cook road. The high-lift station and the filtration plant have not been built.

SETS UP TERMS

The bond ordinance, a 10-page document, required 37 minutes to read in its entirety. It stipulated the terms under which the loan was made, the method of payment, and what steps would be taken if the city defaults on payment.

The bill was not passed because Councilman Charles N. Shultz explained that it arrived on Tuesday and council had not had sufficient time to study it.

The Citizens National Bank and Trust company offered to act as trustee for an initial fee of $100, an annual fee of $100 and a charge of 40 cents per bond for authentication. The bank offered to act as paying agent for $20 per year.

The Mansfield Savings Trust National bank offered to act as trustee for an initial fee of $50, an annual fee of $50 and a charge of 50 cents per bond for authentication. As paying agents the bank asked 50 cents per bond and three cents per coupon.

The Richland Trust company offered to act as trustee for a flat rate of $115 per year and as paying agent for a flat rate of $68 per year.

The Farmers Savings and Trust company offered to act as trustee for an initial fee of $100, an annual fee of $100 and a charge of 40 cents per bond for authentication. The bank offered to act as paying agent for $40 per year.

Mansfielder, Long Ill, Loses Home

A. E. Wilson, 18 Bentley street, will rest a lot easier in St. Luke's hospital if he's sure he'll have a home to come back to when he's released.

The 45-year-old Mansfielder underwent his sixth plastic surgery operation last week at the Cleveland hospital. Now, he finds he must vacate his home by July 1.

Both Mrs. Wilson and a daughter are employed and are able to pay up to $40-a-month rent but so far there's been no glimmer of hope for a new residence.

Wilson, who has been in ill health for three years, was severely burned by X-ray, necessitating grafting and bone removal. Anyone who knows of a place to rent is urged to call the Wilson home, phone 2922-9.

Roberta Thrilled at Receiving Honor

Bedridden, She Gets Scout Award

By MARGUERITE MILLER

No Girl Scout in Mansfield was more thrilled over the city-wide court of awards last night than Roberta Longsdorf. And Roberta wasn't even there. The ceremonies were held in St. John's church.

She missed standing up with her 85 other sister Scouts to receive her First Class Scout badge. Roberta was in bed, her leg and hip in a cast. But Roberta earned her first class rank just as though she hadn't had that painful fall four weeks ago.

The Troop 20 member was just one badge away from her First Class rating a month ago when she fell and broke her hip. She needed her credits in journalism to get the award. Determined, although bed-ridden, Roberta appealed to Mrs. Howard Wenning, head of the Scribes unit, to help her with the work. Mrs. Wenning obliged and last night, her work completed, Roberta received her First Class badge from Mrs. P. C. Davis and Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of the Scouts.

The tears Roberta shed over that badge were not tears of distress. Scout executives said she cried with happiness when the good news was relayed to her. Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Longsdorf, 177 Hedges street.

Inaugurating the first city-wide court of awards held in their 11-year-history in Mansfield, Scouts and Scout leaders paid special honor to Mrs. Davis with a "thank-you" award, presented by the Scout council for "outstanding work during the 11 years of Girl Scouting in Mansfield. Mrs. Davis also organized the first Brownie troop in the city seven years ago.

LEADERS WELCOMED

Dispatched with the dignity and effectiveness it rated, the court of awards was opened by the Scout procession of members, and leaders who listened to the welcome given by Mrs. James Keith, deputy commissioner. Mary Ann Russell and Pat Lehman, Senior Scouts, served as ushers.

Following the flag ceremony by Senior Scouts Barbara Bowers, Evelyn Hughes, Shirley Noel and JoAnn Hawkins, the candle ceremony and the Scout promise and laws were directed by Senior Scout Donna Davis.

Seventeen of the city's hardest-working Scouts then were presented with the curved bar award, highest in Girl Scouting. Presented by Mrs. Joy Herbert, area commissioner, the curved bars went to Cynthia Ackerman, Susan Benzing, Nancilee Clark, Patricia Daugherty, Diana Hale, Mary Lou McCullough, Nelaura Orr, Priscilla Slabaugh, Janice Smith, Nancy Wolf, Nancy Roth, Sandra Barnett, Edith Browarsky, Rosemary Jones, Shirley Pirrgo, Patricia Sites and Sandra Theaker.

Sixty-nine of those honored in the court received the First-Class rank. They were:

Marian Davison, Patricia Ann King, Joy Ann Herbert, Betty Lou Staninger and Patricia Zink of Troop 2; Jacqueline Paulton, Anita Vanoff, Virginia Hullinger, Delores Bacquet and Jo Ann Christman of Troop 6; Aola Greer, Barbara Brown and Connie Paulson of Troop 12.

Beverly Evans of Troop 18; Roberta Longsdorf, Marylnn Harris and Carolyn Thierlein of Troop 20; Cynthia Ackerman, Dorothy Elsasser, Mary Lou McCullough, Mary Lou Peppard, Shirley Rizer and Gay Rosenberg of Troop 22; Sandra Barnett, Florence Brothers, Edythe Browarsky, Donna DeYarman, Rosemary Jones, Shirley Pirrgo, Patricia Schroeder, Patricia Sites, Sally Smith and Maralynn Grabosky of Troop 24; Shirley Jones of Troop 26; Donna Friday of Troop 25; Diana Brook, Lanny Carr, Linda Couchman, Patricia Edmonstone, Lynn Hartley, Diana Hayward, Kathleen Kohler, Carolyn McGinty, Sandra Nichols and Joan Tremain of Troop 27.

Shurlene Scheurer, Carolyn McElhaney and Patricia Pence of Troop 30, and Mary Ellen Rust, Patsy Smith, Joan Stranski and Marilou Smith of Troop 50.

Members of the court of awards committee were Miss Helen Heston, organist; Mrs. Fred Castor and Mrs. Sam Theaker, co-chairmen; Mrs. C. D. Heston, candle ceremony; Mrs. Charles Pence, flag ceremony; Mrs. Charles F. Orr, presentation of badges, and Mrs. Gladys Kohler, decorations. Mrs. Howard Wenning, first deputy commissioner of the area, presented Scribe badges.

GETS HER BADGE ANYWAY—Roberta Longsdorf of Girl Scout Troop 20 smiles up from her bed at Miss Margaret Rooney, scout executive secretary, as she was presented with the first class badge she determinedly earned even while bed-ridden with a broken hip. Mrs. P. C. Davis, background left, who planned the city-wide court of awards for the girls last night, looks on. Mrs. Davis too was surprised by a "Thank-you" badge, rare in scouting honors, for the work she has done in the past 11 years of Girl Scouting in Mansfield.

Cashes Bad Check

Glenn Zimmerman of the Office cafe told police yesterday he cashed a $10 check for a customer, and the check came back marked "No account." He said the check was presented by a man who signed it "A. J. Welch." Zimmerman said he would file charges.

Sen. Bridges Urges GOP to Trim Budget

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Bridges (R-NH) insisted today the Republican-controlled congress live up to its pledge to trim $2,500,000,000 from President Truman's budget for the year starting July 1.

Bridges said there has been little progress to date toward that goal. He told a reporter he plans to call a special meeting of the senate-house budget committee, which he heads, in a new move to slap the brakes on federal spending.

The New Hampshire senator decided that after the senate late yesterday rejected by a 55 to 18 vote a motion to pare $200,000,000 from a bill to provide a record $640,253,200 for next year's waterways program.

The issue was whether to send the bill back to the appropriations committee for pruning.

Twenty-five of his Republican colleagues voted against Bridges and 16 other GOP senators. Senator Byrd (D-Va) was the only Democrat for recommittal.

The Virginian said the Republicans "have done a lot of talking about economy but have accomplished little." But he added that "the Democrats, in the high command, have not even done any talking."

Bridges, too, did some blunt speaking in the senate yesterday.

He said he knows both that "it takes guts" to vote for economy and that his colleagues are "up against pressure and propaganda."

But he said he is disappointed more members of the senate "won't go through on living up to their commitments."

Congress ought to abolish the legislative budget if it has no intention of living up to it, Bridges added.

Laf-A-Day . . . .

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Employes of the Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance company were offering birthday wishes today to Scott F. Coffin vice president of the firm and member of the board of directors. Coffin has been associated with the Lumbermens Mutual for 32 years. He was born in Ottawa county and came to Mansfield 16 years ago. He is a graduate of Oberlin college where during his last two years he assisted in the teaching of dendrology (identification of trees). A trustee of the Congregational church, he also is a member and past president of the Westbrook country club and a member of the Kiwanis club. His favorite hobbies are golf and bridge. He is the father of Dr. Farnum S. Coffin, well known pediatrician in the east.

The News-Journal also extends birthday greetings today to R. H. Shryock, 132 Bowman street.

Greetings today also go to Arthur W. Norris, 36 Wolfe avenue, partner in the Norris-Taylor company. He's marking his 42nd anniversary. There was a little party for him last night.

★

VOLUNTEERS WANTED—

The Richland County Junior Red Cross appealed today for volunteers to help translate "thank you" letters sent by persons in foreign countries who have received gift packages from the Red Cross. Translators are needed for the following languages: Chinese, Czechoslovakian, Dutch, Finnish, Flemish, French, German, Greek, Hebrew-Yiddish, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Lithuanian, Norwegian, Polish, Roumanian, Spanish, Swedish, Ukrainian and Yugoslavian. Persons who can read those languages are asked to call the Red Cross chapter house, 1494-1, or write 390 Park avenue west.

★

FLOWERY TOUCH—

The Mansfield-Leland hotel will soon add a touch of color to the outside of the building.

City council last night authorized the hotel to attach flower boxes at the ground level windows on Park Avenue West and to place small trees in boxes at the Walnut street and Park Avenue West entrances to the buildings.

TWO-DAY HOLIDAY—

Mansfielders will have plenty of time to attend the city's Memorial Day services, May 31—thanks to the cooperation of Mansfield merchants, industrialists and office managers. Because the holiday falls on Sunday, the ceremonies, including a parade and services at the cemetery, will be held on Monday. In cooperation, all county and city offices will be closed at the court house and city building. Blinds will be drawn on all retail store doors and offices and factories will be quiet. John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said only maintenance crews will be kept at city factories that day.

SURPRISE—

Residents of an East Mansfield house "entertained" an unexpected visitor last night. A man, who later registered with sheriff's deputies as F. P. Gossett, 43, of 72 Brookside drive, Ashland, walked into the house, took off his shoes, lay down on the davenport and went to sleep. He was held in county jail today on a charge of intoxication.

Public's Reaction Sought

Measure Given First Reading

Expected approval of an ordinance granting the Mansfield Rapid Transit company a new 15-year franchise did not materialize at last night's meeting of city council.

Nelson Swihart, chairman of the utilities committee, who previously had stated that the "measure was ready to go," said that he felt the general public should be given a chance to look over the new franchise and criticize it if they saw fit.

"The main reason that it was not put up for final passage," Swihart said, "was because council did not want to be accused of railroading the measure through."

Council listened to the first reading of the measure after hearing Walter J. Burghard jr., ask that action granting the franchise be delayed because "he would soon be in the position to make a better offer."

Some confusion arose when Swihart asked City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch where the original and copies of the ordinance were, Kalbfleisch, apparently unaware that the measure was to be considered, had not forwarded the original document to the clerk, although councilmen had been given copies.

Swihart and Councilman Fred Miller had copies of the franchise and the clerk read one of them. At the suggestion of Councilman Charles Shultz, who termed the incident "embarrassing," and the formal motion of Swihart, the measure was offered for a first reading but was not put up for final passage as originally scheduled.

Burghard, who owns the Yellow Stripe Cab company, in presenting his request that council delay action until he could prepare his bid, stated that he had contacted several bus manufacturing companies which told him that they could deliver buses on 60 to 90 days notice.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company had previously told council that it is having extreme difficulty in obtaining buses to replace the ones lost in the November fire that destroyed the company garage and more than a dozen buses.

QUESTIONS 'POLL'

Burghard also took exception to the recent poll conducted by the Mansfield Rapid Transit company to determine rider habits and preferences.

He stated that taxi cab companies are doing such a flourishing business as to indicate that the need for adequate public transportation is great. He claimed that the local taxi companies do a greater percentage of business than they do in other towns where cabs and buses are in competition.

The proposed new 15-year franchise granting the Mansfield Rapid Transit company the right to do business in Mansfield states that the Hedges street line, which now ceases operation at 6:40 p. m. daily and does not run on Sundays and holidays will hereafter run on the same schedule as all the other lines.

The only other change in the new franchise is the stipulation that the city shall be paid $100 per year per scheduled route instead of $25. There are 13 scheduled runs.

The bus company has asked that it be granted a new 15-year franchise so that it can begin work on a new garage. Officers have stated that they do not want to make the investment unless they know that they will be allowed to operate for the next 15 years. The present franchise expires in 1952.

Sidetracks Three Bills

City council last night declined to act on three measures requested by Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier designed to "increase the efficiency of the sewer department."

Copies of measures calling for the creation of the post of superintendent of the sanitary sewer department and for the hiring of a mason to assist in manhole construction were handed to the clerk at the beginning of the meeting, but they were not presented for consideration.

A third item, calling for a 280-foot extension of the 36-sewer line now being built from Wayne street to the Ashland road, also was sidetracked.

Petitioners Ask Change In Channel

Seek to Alter Rocky Fork Course

County commissioners yesterday certified a petition asking construction of a new channel for the Rocky Fork creek, north of Mansfield, to County Engineer Walter E. Rusk.

The engineer is to make a survey of the proposed improvement and give a cost estimate. A final hearing then will be held and the petition will be accepted or rejected.

Representatives of the Empire Steel Corporation and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad said they oppose the channel change. The steel company said it would lose a supply of water while the railroad company said the new channel might weaken its road bed.

The petitioners asked that the channel be changed to run on the northeast side of the railroad tracks, starting at the steel mill.

The new channel would run parallel to the tracks in a northwesterly direction. The petitioners are Paul Bessemer, Karl Wilging and Karl Goettl.

Demand Brisk For Fruits, Vegetables

Food Sales and Prices Advance Slightly

NEW YORK—(AP)—Food prices edged a little higher this week. Retailers around the country reported many consumers were buying more groceries. In turn wholesalers said their sales increased slightly. Food production also increased particularly butter, flour and cheese.

Buying of fresh fruits and vegetables gained at both retail and wholesale levels. They were reported in plentiful supply and moderately priced.

Demand for pork increased, fresh fish and poultry purchases continued large. Substitutes for meat and butter were in good demand.

Wholesalers said macaroni and noodles were selling better. Flour and cereal products were being bought in limited quantities for immediate delivery.

A survey by the American institute of food Distribution showed average dollar volume of chains and big retailers 12 per cent above last year, smaller grocers 5 per cent higher, and 89 wholesale grocers 8 per cent higher. The Institute said "feeling about the business prospect for the next several months was decidedly more optimistic than 10 days or two weeks ago."

The New Jersey department of agriculture made a survey on prices there. It reported food that $1 bought this April could have been bought for 45 cents in August, 1939. The average retail price of 83 essential food items rose 2.27 per cent from March to April this year, the report said.

The European cooperation administration will send Europe $1,800,000,000 of American food in the first year of the aid program. Administrator Paul G. Hoffman said that $62,350,000 of it has already been authorized for purchase of American farm products.

The long-range food outlook was subject to controversy this week.

A Scot farmer, Sir John Boyd Orr, who is retiring as director general of the United Nations food and agriculture organization, said in Geneva that in the race between population and food, population was winning, "and we do not know how to stop it."

He predicted a food catastrophe saying there are now nearly 200,000,000 more mouths to feed than before the war.

In New York an agricultural economist, Mrs. Edith J. Hirsch, said such fears were not justified. "After each war the birthrate is temporarily high and food shortages are acute," she said. "Within two years we are likely to be complaining about food surpluses," she added.

X-Ray Process Spots Minerals

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(AP)—A new method of identifying minerals by X-ray analysis of their atomic structure has been developed at Harvard university's Berman Memorial laboratory.

By the improved technique the laboratory within a year will have the world's most complete reference library of mineral photographs, according to its directors.

There are about 12 million bicycles in the United States.

Tragic Scene Wins Award

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Paul Calvert, Los Angeles Times photographer, won first prize in annual contest for excellence in news photography conducted by the Associated Press Managing Editors' association. Chairman Stanley P. Barnett announced.

Calvert's photo, "A Mother's Tragedy," shows a weeping mother walking away from the body of her drowned six-year-old daughter at the beach of a California lake.

LITTLE RED SCHOOL BURNS

FARGO, N. D.—(AP)—What was believed to be North Dakota's oldest rural school has been destroyed by fire. The one-room brick building popularly known as "The Little Red Schoolhouse," was built just outside Fargo in 1877 when this area was a part of Dakota Territory.

Experiment Converts Barren Soil to Farm

BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—Modern farming has transformed a barren, rocky countryside near this Licking county community into a green sea of waving wheat and rich pastureland.

Seven months ago, 600 volunteer workers and 74 tractors remade two hillside farms of 208 acres in one day. It was a demonstration sponsored by the Ohio State Conservation department and was witnessed by 60,000 people.

The farms, belonging to John Rodman and George Latham, had produced nothing more than a scant crop of corn before the demonstration. Today, properly irrigated and with the danger of landslides removed, a large harvest seems to be promised the two farmers.

The increased possibilities on their farms have doubled the work of Rodman and Lathem. Aside from cleaning up after the original face-lifting operation, the two men have much more arable land at their disposal today than ever before. They agree, however, that the experiment seems to be a success.

Rodman, who owns nine cows, intends increasing his herd to 30. Soil conservation experts estimate his rejuvenated land will support the increased number.

He also has planted 3,000 pine and cedar trees for protection against cutting winds from near-by "Buzzard" Glory Knob mountain.

Latham got a private fishing hole out of the deal when conservation department officials used equipment from the demonstration to build him a conservation pond, and have promised to stock it with fish.

The project is being closely watched by the U. S. Soil Conservation service.

Crows Escape Jolt By Volts

CARLSBAD, N. M. — (AP) — What the crows didn't know apparently didn't hurt them.

R. E. Tarleton said some crows built their nests on the cross-arm of a power line pole. The pole carries a 2300-volt line to the pot-ash mine where he is employed as chief electrician.

After fuses were blown three times, Tarleton found the trouble. The crows had tied their nest together with bits of blasting wire. short-circuiting the line. But he didn't find any dead crows.

There are about 200,000 by-products derived from bituminous coal.

Tygers Battle to 11-Inning Scoreless Tie

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

HARRY MEHOCK, the talented track organizer of our school system, is going to help set up the Ohio high school track and field meet again this year. . . . He's going to Columbus tonight to work on the 1948 meet which runs tomorrow and Saturday at the Ohio stadium. . . . About 15 Senior lads will participate in the state track meet. . . . Chuck Mather seems to have instilled new spirit in the Massillon football set-up. . . . His decision to start a reserve team at Washington high has met with instant approval of the students. . . . Mather had a squad meeting last Sunday and 60 lads—twice as many as expected—turned out. . . . Nearly half of the group had been cut from the squad in previous years. . . . SCHEDULE difficulties in tennis have plagued Massillon as well as Mansfield Senior high this year. . . . The Tigers had only one meet and district competition. . . . It seems that the Tigers and Tygers could well get together in other sports besides football and basketball. . . . These two sports are great crowd pleasers for both sides. . . . There is no reason the same thing wouldn't be true in the spring sports. . . . An idea would have the four Senior high spring squads playing the same day in Massillon one year and Washington high coming here the next. . . . Since the schools will soon be competing in the Northern Ohio league, the plan seems plenty feasible.

Swank Goes Full Route For Bengals

Sheldon Swank, Mansfield Senior high, and Pete Davis, Columbus Linden McKinley, put on a great exhibition of mound work yesterday afternoon at the Blue Goose field.

But when the game ended, after 11 long innings, neither team had an advantage, and the result goes into the record books as a scoreless deadlock. Swank had a shade the beter of it but his mates couldn't connect with men on the hassocks.

The game was called at the end of 11 innings by mutual agreement of the two coaches.

Swank's fine endeavor ran the string of scoreless innings compiled by Tyger pitchers to 37 straight. Senior high has not been scored on since Willard punched over a run in the second inning two weeks ago.

LEAVE 13 ON

The Tygers had men on the sacks in nine of the 11 frames but left 13 stranded. Although tiring in the late chapters, Davis struck out 10 and walked only three. However, he hit five men and uncorked a wild pitch.

Swank whiffed 11 and gave two men free tickets to first. He allowed only three hits and picked up two of the Bengals' six safeties. The longest hit of the game was Gary Barber's double for McKinley in the eighth frame.

Coach Jimmy Lymper's lads threatened definitely in the sixth frame after Swank singled and took second on Sparkie Watts' bunt. Joe Miller grounded out, Swank going to third. Then Mike Gruber strolled and stole second. Don Gross walked to load the bases, but Phil Rogers struck out.

CAN'T SCORE

Two innings later Swank was hit and Watts followed with a single. Joe Miller whiffed and Gruber and Gross grounded out.

Again in the ninth, Rogers got hit but Charles Marchant and Lou Gregorio popped up. Corky Perrine drew a pass and both runners advanced on a wild pitch. Swank was intentionally walked to fill the bases. Watts flied out to end the inning.

Watts also had two hits.

Bobby Feller Throws Book At Philadelphia, 6 to 1

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Bob Feller, pitcher and author, threw the book at the Philadelphia Athletics last night.

Feller's new tome is titled, "How to Pitch," so the Cleveland Indians' fireballer proceeded to give the pesky Athletics a practical review of its contents by twirling a three-hit 6 to 1 victory.

Bob had a one-hit shutout until the ninth and faced only 25 batters in the first eight innings, only one more than par for the course.

Up to that final round, 33,871 customers talked of the 10 one-hitters and the two no-hitters Feller has pitched in the past. And they remarked that if it had not been for Buddy Rosar's infield single in the third, they might be witnessing a historic occasion—the third no-hitter.

The Athletics routed Feller in the fourth inning at Philadelphia 12 days ago.

Rosar's single in the third was a hard grounder which Keltner knocked down. He retrieved it and threw to first, but his peg hit the dirt.

MISSES SHUTOUT

Bob missed his one-hitter and shutout in the ninth when Pete Suder singled and scored on Eddie Joost's double.

Feller's triumph last night gave him five wins and two losses for the season.

The victory was the second straight over the Athletics and gave the pace setting Indians a half-game lead over the Pesky Mackmen.

The Tribesmen picked up one run in the third inning on a single by Jim Hegan, a sacrifice and a single by Thurman Tucker. The Indians then blasted starter Bill Dietrich off the mound with a five-run uprising in the fifth.

Legion Junior Club to Meet Sandusky Nine

The Mansfield American Legion junior baseball team will play an exhibition game with the Sandusky juniors Saturday at 4 p. m. on the Liberty park diamond.

Dewey Durant's lads have been able to work out only twice this season and he will not have all the Mansfield players available. Several of the youngsters are still playing on the Senior high club and will not be eligible for Legion ball until the Tyger schedule runs out.

Veteran Dutch Bader will be on the mound for Mansfield with Ken McCally behind the plate. The infield will have Joe Distl on first, Gene Ribletti, second; Walter Mauer, third, and Walter McKeever, shortstop.

TWO OUTFIELDERS

Jack Bosh and Paul Smollen will hold down two of the garden berths with the third falling to Ed Chelski or Bud McMillen.

Mansfield will not participate in district play this season as Durant plans to book many games with teams outside of District 5. Three leagues have been set up in District 5, however, and the annual tournament will start in Bellevue July 11.

Teams from Galion, Crestline, Shelby, Loudonville and Mansfield will meet in a round robin tournament the first week in July. The winner of this affair will be eligible for the district meet.

High Scores Rule In Softball League

High scores were the rule of the night as the Industrial Softball league got under way with all three games being scoring bees.

Mansfield Tire provided the biggest batting punch, racking up a 20-4 victory over the Telephone company at Johns park. Parry, Tire shortstop, set the pace with "four for five" while three other batters had three hits apiece.

Farm Tools whipped Cole Tool and Die, 11-2, behind Walters' three-hit pitching. Jim LeMunyon led the attack with three singles in four trips.

Only real game of the night was at North Lake park where Ideal Electric beat Dominion Electric, 8-6. Leonard led Dominion with three hits while the attack of the winning Ideal team was well divided.

Over 800 persons braved chilly weather last night to watch the Gorman-Rupp softball team defeat Tappan Stove 3-2, under the new G-R floodlights. The game went nine innings, two past regulation, before the home team pushed over the winning run.

Al Baki, G-R, had three hits and scored all three runs.

Mayor Roy Vaughn is slated to throw the traditional first ball with Service-safety director Earl Garrison behind the plate. Coaltown Gets 6-Length Win

NEW YORK —(INS)— Broadway has a new love today.

It's a horse and his name is Coaltown—a three-year-old son of Bull Lea-Easy Lass owned by the Calumet stable.

Thousands of punters who saw him tow-rope a classy field in the seven furlong Swift stakes at Belmont yesterday are convinced he's the fastest thing on four legs. Faster even than his more famous stablemate, Citation.

Jockey Pierson, the granite-faced Texan who rode Coaltown to a romping six lengths victory over My Request, never had the colt out of a trot.

Ex-Champs Lead Pack With 66's

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Two former champions, Bob Hamilton and little Ben Hogan, shared the lead with five-under-par 66's at the start of today's second and final 18 holes of qualifying play in the 30th Professional Golfers association tournament.

Sure putting and accurate approaches to the greens of the 6,467 yard Norwood Hills Country club put the pair in the lead.

Hamilton, 1944 titlist, turned in a 25 putt job. Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., who won the crown in 1946, used only 29 putts. Long putts accounted for three of his five birdies.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and former Masters Champion Herman Keiser of Akron, O., each needed only 30 putts for 67's.

SHARE 68'S

Burning a measly 29 putts for the day were Ed (Porky) Oliver, Kenmore, Wash., and Sammy Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slammer, who shared 68's with Jimmie Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla.

Big Jim Ferrier, the defending champion, who didn't have to qualify, stroked through a 36-34—70 round just to get the "feel of the course."

All told, 25 of the 133 starters yesterday bettered or equalled regulation figures for the tournament stretch.

A qualifying score of about 150 appeared to be the order for the 63 players who will join Ferrier in match play Friday for the top $3,500 prize. The final match of 36 holes is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Junior Ball Meeting Set

Third oragnization for the Hot Stove league's junior baseball program will be held tonight at the YMCA at 7:30.

The meeting will be for lads 18 years of age and younger from Wards 1 and 4. The final session will be for Ward 6 tomorrow evening at John Todd park.

More than 50 youngsters turned out for the Ward 5 meeting last night at Sons of Herman hall. Two teams were organized from Ward 5 and two from Madison school.

Rookie Stops Bucs With Five Hits

By LOU GARAVENTE

NEW YORK —(INS)— Boston's Billy Southworth pulled one from the center deck today and flashed a "pitcher card" which may mean the jackpot for the Braves.

The "ace" is Rookie Vern (Bick) Bickford who made his major league debut last night by setting down the Pittsburgh Pirates with a five-hit 4-to-1 victory. He came up from Milwaukee.

Outwardly calm, the 28-year-old six-footer, short-circuited the Bucs powerhouse with a "slider" pitch. The veteran Max West tagged Bickford for a homer in the seventh but that was all.

To complement this fine hurling, Tommy Holmes contributed a homer and triple for the Braves.

Blazin' Bob Feller dazzled the ambitious Philadelphia Athletics with a three-hit 6-to-1 chore that temporarily stalled the A's first place drive.

Larry Jansen humbled the Cincinnati Reds with a seven-hit 5-to-0 shutout, the Reds' 14th loss in 17 games. Whitey Lockman and Bill Rigney hit home runs to sew up the New York triumph against southpaw Kent Peterson.

Hal Newhouser, without victory since opening day, pitched a four-hitter against the Boston Red Sox, and by virtue of Vic Wertz's ninth-inning, two-out homer, chalked up a 4-to-1 win for Detroit.

Walter Masterson, burly Washington Senator hurler, scattered seven Chicago White Sox hits to win, 4 to 1. The loss was the last-place Sox's 18th in 22 games.

The Philadelphia Phillies unloaded four straight hits against rookie left-hander Cliff Chambers to nip Chicago, 2 to 1 in the ninth inning.

Yankee catcher Yogi Berra smashed a three-run double in the seventh to beat the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 4. Ed Lopat staggered through a 12-hit Brownie attack to score his second win and first complete game of the year.

The Brooklyn Dodgers used five pitchers but St. Louis hitters managed to collect 18 hits in a 14-to-7 Donnybrook that took three hours and 28 minutes.

Stan Musial, perennial "hatchetman" against the Brooks had a perfect night with a triple, douole, and three singles.
